Varn Loses Assembly Race Given Substantial Majority Here

Mrs. Guy Cheney chosen to lead Republican ticket in county this year—Woodbury in second—Addison gives Ben Balcom good majority.

Addison went to the primary polls 411 strong Tuesday and gave Republican Hugh Varn an 80 per cent home town vote in his race for member of assembly. He ran third in the three cornered race in the first assembly district with Mrs. Guy Cheney, Corning, widow of the late Assemblyman Guy Cheney, running in first place and Dr. Walter Woodbury, Bath, in second place.

Ben Balcom was given a substantial majority in the Addison vote being better known in this vicinity owing to his previous campaign here. Mr. Kruze made a spirited campaign but was unable to overcome the popularity of Mr. Balcom among many local voters.

Those were the only contests in the Republican ranks and there was no contest in the Democratic ranks, with the result that the Democratic vote was real light, only 27 votes being cast for candidates of that party.

Voting throughout the day was rather light owing to the long hours the polls remained open. The polls opened at 1 o'clock and remained open until 10 o'clock.

The voting for the candidates here was as follows:

	1st Dist.	2nd Dist.
Member of Assembly
Woodbury	6	16
Cheney	35	36
Varn	115	204
Blank	4	2
Sheriff
Kruze	63	97
Balcom	91	157
Spoiled	6
Treasurer
Clara Smith	124	214
District Attorney
George A. King	119	223
Blank	37
Coroner
James Sanford	117	209
Crossman	94	170
Blank	41	2
Democratic Ticket
Member of Assembly
F .L. King	10	15
Sheriff
Buckley	9	17
Treasurer
Gledhill	12	17
Coroner
Hubbard	8	15
Lucas	8	14

An analysis of the Addison figures shows that Hugh Varn received 80 per cent of the votes in the second district, his home district and 75 per cent of the district north of the river. In other words he received 204 of 260 votes in his home district and 115 of 158 on the north side.

Mrs. Cheney, the successful candidate received 35 in the first and 36 in the second district for a one point difference and 71 votes in the village.

Ben Balcom received 248 votes here to 160 for Kruze, giving both candidates a substantial vote in the village.

The testimonial vote to George King, running unopposed for district attorney attested to his popularity here for he polled 342 votes on the ballots. County Treasurer, Clara Smith, secured 338 votes, also in an unopposed primary.

It was in the voting for coroner that many people neglected to mark the ballots at all, others marked for one or the other candidate and many marked for both of them. Both were candidates and two will be voted upon in the general elections.

Judge E. C. Smith in commenting on the primary late Tuesday night said Addison always stood firmly by the home town candidate.

County Legion Auxiliary In Addison Last Thurs.

Mrs. Warren E. Hertenstein of Wayland, district vice president and county president of the American Legion Auxiliary presided at a meeting of the county unit held in Addison last Thursday night. Plans for winter activities were made and various committees appointed for the coming year. A luncheon was served by members of the local auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. B. F. Short and Mrs. William Kennedy with Mrs. Clare Chart as chairman . Miss Lenore Runyan, president of the local auxiliary opened the meeting and welcomed the county officers and guests.

MRS. GRACE BRIGGS

Mrs. Silas Ripley, Steuben Street, formerly of Borden, received notice last week that Mrs. Grace Briggs Sherman, N .Y., died last week. Mrs. Briggs was a former resident of Borden. Funeral services were held Monday and burial was in W. Edmeston. Two daughters, Ruth and Mary Jane survive at home. Mr. Briggs also survives. He will be remembered as former pastor of the Borden Baptist Church.

Smiths Honored At Dinner Party

Miss Maude Smith and Mrs. George L. Smith were the honored guests at a dinner party held at the home of Mrs. Leo Miller of Erwins Saturday. The table was prettily decorated with green and yellow tapers with matching favors. The afternoon was spent with bridge and other games. Others present to enjoy the dinner and social time were: Mrs. Frank H. Smith, Miss Helen Smith, Mrs. Ira Halminen, Mrs. Nina Mann, the Misses Margaret and Carolyn West, Miss Frederica Sprague and the hostess Mrs. Miller.

Greetings—New Arrival

Attorney and Mrs. Charles L. Crane are the grandparents of a baby girl born Wednesday, September 20, 1939. The baby was born in the Albany Hospital, a daughter of Mr .and Mrs. Russell Osborne. Mrs. Osborne is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crane and was formerly of this village, being Janet Crane. She girl weighed seven and one-half pounds. She has been named Alice Elizabeth.

GIRL SCOUTS ELECT —

Miss Katherine Lyons was re-elected president of the Older Girl Scout organization of Addison at a weiner roast party held last Thursday night. Others elected at the same time were: Vice president, Miss Leona Easton; secretary, Miss Mildred Losinger and treasurer, Miss Alice Magoon . Miss Barbara Whitmore will entertain the group September 21.

HAS OPERATION

William Williams of Steuben St., submitted to an emergency appendectomy at Corning Hospital Saturday.

Four Fishermen Forego Fish For Fun

Four men went fishing. Four men told tall tales of fish that were caught but jumped out of the box. And so does the eternal fisherman beguile his home friends with tales of the "swell" fishing streams, the biting fish, the struggle to land them and just as they were getting them near the boat they got away.

This experience happened to four local fishermen who invaded the St. Lawrence District, even as pioneers did in days of old. However, our hardy pioneers did not depend upon their catches to provide substance fortunately, or this might have been a different tale. No they were sportsmen who assured the world that they knew all the ways of catching fish.

However, as most fishing tales should be told they brough home little for their efforts except colds in the head, tired feet and ravenous appetites. Such is life in the open for those used to the village ways.

Incidentally the four who went fishing last week were led by the gallant captain and skipper George Smith, assisted by first mate L. W. Barr, with Russell Wade and Ralph Wade as members of the crew. "Russ" Wade took advantage of the three days in camp to get in some sleep and so jealous were other members of the staff that they made him drive all the way home, Sunday morning, a seven hour drive from the fishing grounds to the home port.

CRANE APPOINTED

Secretary Roland Kennedy of the Steuben District Past Masters' Association announced last week that Attorney Charles L. Crane of Addison has been appointed a member of the Executive Committee of that association.

Daylight Saving Time Ends For Addison Sun.

Don't forget to put your clocks back one hour Saturday night before you go to bed! Sunday, September 24 marks the last day of daylight saving for this vicinity for another year. This means that you will gain an hour before going to bed if you put your clock back early enough, or you will gain the hour during your sleeping time.

And then what a shock you will receive Sunday night about 6 o'clock when it starts to get dark and you wonder why, for in the past few weeks it has not been getting dark until around seven o'clock. You will say, "My, but it's getting dark early these fall nights" or something like that.

This setting the clock back means that the farmers will have that extra hour of daylight in the morning, however, the hour which they felt they had been deprived of all summer. It will be lighter for them getting up in the morning.

Not all of New York state will go back on standard time at this time. Some communities already have resumed eastern standard time and others will not do so until Sunday, October 1.

However, most of the southern tier will be on eastern standard time.

For awhile there will be confusion on railroad and bus schedules, radio programs and other intersectional affairs, but locally it will just be a case of pushing the clock back and doing the usual things at the usual time.

ELECTION RESULTS

Mrs. Guy Cheney was nominated on the GOP ticket to fill the unexpired term of her late husband. She polled 3,875 as against Dr. Walter Woodbury's 2,801 and Hugh Varn's 1,388.

Ben Balcom of Corning topped Leo Kruze of Arkport 8,646 to 7,103.

School Class Elections Planned for Next Week

The first assembly of the school year will be held Friday morning at the opening of school, according to an announcement of Principal Irving R. Gladstone.

The principal item of business will be the nomination of officers for the Student Association.

Various nominating speeches will be made and then a vote taken on the candidates nominated by their fellow classmates.

The election of class officers will take place next week. At that time all classes will be organized with president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

These elections are spirited and the campaign speeches made in behalf of the various candidates are filled with political acumen.

Churches Ask Return of Rev. Homer E. Cole

The Quarterly Conferences of Elk Run and Mainesburg Methodist Churches have both asked for the return of Rev. Homer E. Cole who has served these churches for two years. He has also been a leader in community life. The Rev. Mr. Cole has organized several societies in Mainesburg, among them the Community Men's Brotherhood which has served as a cultural and social enterprise. He assisted in starting a Boy Scout Troop and took the office of assistant scoutmaster.

Besides carrying on the work of the two churches, he is carrying a full course of study in the Mansfield State Teachers College during the regular term and a full course of theology in the summer school of theology at Cazenovia.

Mr Cole is the son of the Rev and Mrs. E. S. Cole of Rathbone, and is well known in Addison where he attended the Teachers' Training Class during the school year 1931-32.

Redemptorist Priest Closes 40 - Hour Devotions Here

The Rev. William Chapman, of the Redemptorist Order conducted a successful three day religious devotional period in St. Catherine's Catholic Church here beginning Sunday and closing Tuesday night.

During this time there were Masses each morning, instructional services and sermon in the evening closing with the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Confessions were heard each morning before 5:30 and 7:30 o'clock Masses and after the evening services. Communion was given at all Masses during the 40 hours devotional period to most all parishioners. The Rev. Newcomb of Hornell assisted in the services. Masses were said by the pastor, the Rev. Patrick Kelly. Children of the congregation formed a procession for the closing exercises.

Fish and Game Club Sponsors Local Shoots October 8 and 15

Special meeting last Thursday—Members cleared $140 on field day—Plan electric lights for club house—To have testimonial dinner for William McCarthy and Llewellyn Robbins.

Electric lights will be installed in the Addison Fish and Game Club lodge on the McCarthy Farm it was voted at a meeting held Thursday night under the direction of President Vernon Adsit. Leland Little will supervise the installation which will be on a battery operated setup. This will enable motion pictures to be shown at club meetings as well as improving club quarters.

Thursday's meeting was for the purpose of getting committee check-ups on what was realized on the annual field meet and trials held Sunday. Some of the committee chairmen were absent and hence the final report will be delayed.

The estimate on the basis of Thursday's reports would indicate that $140.31 was made on the field day in which members cooperated with committees to make a success.

Plans for local shoots for members only were made and these shoots will be held on Sunday, October 8 and Sunday, October 15, both coming before hunting season. The only charge for shooting will be on a cost basis with the club making no profit. The cost will be divided as follows: 70 cents for a round of shells, 25 cents for targets and five cents for the boys.

It was voted to make the annual dinner a testimonial dinner to William J. McCarthy, charter member and first president and to Llewellyn Robbins, past president and charter member.

President Adsit, secretary L. W. Barr and Lewis Manley were appointed an auditing committee on the field day bills. Mr. Robbins and Bert Ellwood were appointed a committee of two to investigate the possibilities of building a leanto kitchen on the east side of the building to take the kitchen out of the club building and to fit the club building as a men's club house.

The members were informed that 24 extra pheasants were received Thursday for liberation here.

New York-Penn Firemen Meet in Avoca Tonight

John W. Kennedy, Avoca, will be the guest of honor at a testimonial dinner to be held Thursday night, tonight, in Avoca. The members of the New York - Penn Firemen's Association will be the hosts. Mr. Kennedy is past president and charter member of the organization. Fire Chief McCarthy of Corning will be the principal speaker. John O'Keefe of the Addison Department is the present head of the association.

Bath Jail Inmate Caught in Tuscarora

Henry Wixted, 49, who escaped from the Bath jail last week was captured by Deputy Earl June Friday morning after two days of absence. Deputy June saw the man walking along the highway in Tuscarora and arrested him. Wixted is serving a six months' sentence from Hornell.

Staff Members Attend Cornell News Institute

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mullen of the Addison Advertiser attended a two day Newspaper Institute held at Cornell University, Ithaca over the past week-end. The topic for discussions was relative to the "subscriber' of the paper with emphasis being laid on how the subscriber can best be served by the present day weekly.

The Institute was organized by Prof. Bristow Adams, and James Knapp of the Agriculture College publications office. Many prominent editors and publishers of New York State were on the program and an interchange of ideas was part of the program.

New York State's two outstanding correspondents, both women, gave ideas for bettering correspondence. Both were winners in national competition, one winning first place and the other second in the National Editorial Association contests. One represents a community of 400 people and the other a community of 200.

The editors, publishers and wives were shown a colored motion picture of the evolution of an egg into a hen in 21 days. The pictures took 2,000 eggs and over nine months to bring to completion. Delicate handling and photography was required.

Blakeslee Class Holds Supper Meeting

Members of the Blakeslee Class of the Methodist Church held a supper meeting at the church Friday afternoon and evening. The short business session was followed by a picnic supper and social time.

Members present were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Loper, Mrs. Bessie Reynolds, Mrs. Ida Perry, Mrs. William E. Barron, Mrs. Frank Ward, Mrs. Charles Armstrong, Mrs. Edith Dann and Miss Susie Orr.

Mrs. Ward extended an invitation to the class to hold the next meeting at her home.

Turnbull Speaker At Ad Club Dinner Tonight

The first in the series of Ladies' Night programs for members of the Advertising Club of Addison will be held tonight, Thursday in the Guild Hall of the Church of the Redeemer. Members of the Womens' Auxiliary of the Church will serve the supper at 6:30 o'clock. Mrs. Sam Keck is president of the Auxiliary and will be chairman of the dinner committee.

The speaker of the evening ill be Robert C. Turnbull, president of the Bath National Bank. He will speak on "South America". Mr. Turnbull will also show colored motion pictures of that continent, pictures taken by himself on recent trips. Mr. Turnbull is well known as a speaker and entertainer and in fraternal circles. He served as Governor of the 27th district of the Rotary International at one time. Dr. Amos G. Stiker is chairman for the Ad Club for this program.

Blasts Plans For Full Carillon at Alfred

The new European war has blasted the hopes of Alfred University of augmenting its Old World carillon —at least before the war ends.

Dr. Lloyd Watson returned from Europe last week on the British liner Cameronia and announced that the bells he went to get are "buried in the ground, somewhere in the war zone".

The University claims to have the only Old World carillon in the United States and Dr. Watson's trip climaxed a campaign for additional bells to complete the set.

ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Strait entertained guests Saturday evening at a farewell party honoring Wilbor Hannahs. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Hannahs, Charles Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John Hopper, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Stewart and daughter Janice, Mrs. Nettie Rowley, Miss Jeannette Dykins and the complimented guest Wilbor Hannahs.

Steuben Fair Records Broken

The Steuben County Fair of the past week was one of the most successful on record, in point of attendance, races and in the type of entertainment given in the opinion of many of those who attended. Many Addisonites attended two and three days to see the races and also to witness the free attractions from the grandstand.

Much favorable comment was heard on the entertainment features of the fair including the various rides. Children were treated courteously by the attendants and given every consideration in going on the various rides presented.

It is believed by those who attended that the fair management did not feel the New York World's Fair or State Fair pressure in attendance figures and are in a position to realize a profit on the fair.

E. C. Smith Herds Take Many Fair Honors at Bath

Four years of earnest work, backed by 21 years of faith in the breed was justified for Judge E. C. Smith at the Steuben County Fair last week when his herd of Ayrshires took 13 out of a total of 17 class prizes.

In addition the herd took second in three classes. Prof. Harrison of Cornell University, Department of Agriculture was the judge.

Individual honors of grand champion and senior champion went to Strathglass Queen Mabis, who also took the senior cow championship. Junior cow championship was Scott-Ayr Breese of the same herd.

The greatest honor won by the herd was that captured by four cows for the highest production of any four cows in the county in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association sweepstakes. This is an unusual honor for Ayrshire herds. This honor was won in competition with all breeds in the county.

C. E. Rounds was in charge of the show animals and he was assisted by Earl Allen. Judge Smith's registered herd name is Scott-Ayr Farms. The prize money was distributed to those who prepared the animals for the show.

Several buyers of Ayrshires from within and outside the county bought cattle from the herd.

Bureau Tests Soil For Lime

Early application for soil tests for lime is recommended by the farm bureau in announcing the service which is so widely used by Steuben county farmers.

Experience favors the application of lime well in advance of the time of seeding to legume crops, the bureau reports, and for that reason it is recommended that farmers use the service in the autumn rather than spring.

By means of the test and by the examination of the soil it is possible to determine the amount of lime that is needed for the production of clover and alfalfa, and similar crops.

Requests for the service should state the location of the farm from the nearest village.

Mount Morris—Dr. Albert Leach, health officer here for the past forty years, died September 8.

Missionary Breakfast In Church Parlors

Members of the Baptist Missionary Society held a Missionary break fast in the church parlors Thursday morning, September 14. Miss Carolyn West led the devotions and Mrs. Mondula C. Johns presented an interesting program. Places were arranged for Mrs. Jennie Northrup, Mrs. Ida Ripley, Mrs. Mondula Johns and house guest, Mrs. Mary Patterson of New Brunswick, Canada; the Misses Margaret and Carolyn West, Mrs. Frank Hess, Mrs. Francis Jones, Mrs. Harold Rouse, Mrs. Albert Root, Mrs. William Levi, Mrs. Waldo Butler Mrs. Arthur Rice, Mrs. Hattie Sly and Mrs. Joseph Allen.

Virginia Nellis Honor Guest

Mrs. Warren C. Stiker and sister, Miss Katherine Closson, Farnham Street, entertained in honor of Miss Virginia Nellis, who is soon to become the bride of Allen Leary of Rochester. The affair was held last Wednesday night. Yellow crepe paper and seasonal cut flowers were usd in the decorations. Special ice cream was served moulded into a bride and groom for Miss Nellis and in the form of pink slippers for the other guests. Miss Nellis received a variety of gifts from her many friends present.

The guest were:

Misses Helen Crawford of Cameron Mills; Beatrice Smith of Bath; Elrene Pingrey of Knoxville, Pa.; Martha Stein of Elmira; Mrs. Arnold Gabel of Borden; Mrs. Jay W. Mose, Mrs. Luke Brown, Mrs. Donald Burlingame, Mrs. Ford Williams Mrs. Lewis Willis, Mrs. Norman Closson, Mrs. Harrison Nellis and the Misses Ida Haweeli, Onolee Little, Velma Perkins, Wilma Burlingame, Elaine Howard, Betty Seaman, June Allen, Betty Gene Hickey, Muriel Smith, Gretchen McWilliams, Madeline Short, Betty Tobin, Eleanor Hogue and the hostesses.

BAPTIST PARSONAGE GUESTS

Mrs. C. B. Johns of West Palm Beach, Fla., mother of the Rev. Mondula C. Johns, and Mrs. W. N. Patterson of Woodstock, New Brunswick, Canada, are house guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Mondula C. Johns.

Clyde—This village has been assured a new $70,000 post office.

Methodist Men Realize $20.00 on Entertainment

Methodist men realized over $20 as their share of the proceeds of the entertainment given here Saturday night as a benefit for the Men's Club. The entertainment was headed by Pieplant Pete and Bashful Joe, radio entertainers from Station WHAM, Rochester. This is the second appearance of this pair in Addison. In addition to singing, music and stories, they had an amateur program given by vicinity talent. Competition from other nearby entertainments cut this year's attendance below that of last year. President Bert Rouse, of the club, stated this was the only night this month the entertainers could come to Addison.

Aldrich Class Meets At Butler Home

Members of the Aldrich Class of the Baptist Sunday School and guests met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Butler Thursday evening. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Butler assisted by Mrs. Francis Jones. Others present at the meeting were the Rev. and Mrs. Mondula Johns and guest, Mrs. Mary Patterson, Mr .and Mrs. Carlton Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hill and son Robert, Samuel Allen, Francis Jones and the host, Waldo Butler.

Addison High Agriculture Students Win Honors at Fair

Future Farmers win chapter honors—Individual students win prizes for poultry and crop raising—Active in herd improvement recording.

A number of prizes were won at the Steuben County Fair by the boys from Addison High School taking agriculture.

The Addison Future Farmers of America chapter won third prize in the chapter activity contest. This consists of a scrap book containing F. F. A. secretary's book, various pictures, writeups from newspapers and ribbons won at the fair.

In the Dairy Herd Improvement contest second place was secured. This contest consists of dairy herd improvement records kept on cows by students taking agriculture. About 250 records were exhibited.

Many individual prizes were won by boys from Addison on poultry, feed crops and vegetables. Among these prize-winning exhibits were: Rhode Island Red cock, second, and a Rhode Island Red hen, second, exhibited by the local chapter; a Barred Rock cockerel, first prize, Barred cockerel, second prize; Barred Rock pullet, second prize, all exhibited by James Hall.

Third prize on oats exhibited was won by Warren Perkins. On green beans first prize went to Burdette Miles, who also won third prize on yellow beans.

No chapter exhibit was put up due to the fact that they have exhibited four successive years and there is not enough room for all chapters to exhibit at the Steuben County Fair at one time.

Because of the drouth in this section of the state crops and vegetables were somewhat poor, therefore the number and amount of the exhibits smaller.

CANNON FODDER

Congress has been called by the President to meet this week to change the neutrality legislation framed by that body to keep us out of war. Mr. Roosevelt says he wants "real neutrality" legislation. Congressional leaders who sponsored the present act in the first place framed it with the belief sale of munitions and supplies to nations engaged in war endangered our own peace. They have repeatedly pointed out that sale of war materials to the Allies gave the American people a financial stake in the war which led to our taking sides in the conflict. The President's argument is that in forbidding sale of materials to the nations that control the seas we are favoring the nations that are under blockade. He favors keeping the nation out of war, but would permit Americans to sell to belligerents for cash the war materials they could carry away in their own ships.

Thus, in substance, run the arguments for and against changing the law governing our intercourse with the nations at war. Both the President and the isolationists like Senator Borah affirm their desire to keep us out of war, but the former clearly shows also that he wants to lend assistance to the so-called Democratic powers. Now there is no denying that a majority of Americans feel sympathetic towards the Allies, if for no other reason, then it is because Poland has been practically annihilated by the German war machine and is being divided between the two totalitarian powers she separated. But we must not let those sympathies run away with our good judgment when the world has started to blaze again with the fires of hatred which have smoldered in Europe for centuries. Nor must we let ourselves fall into the same kind of a trap we tumbled into in 1917.

Then it was American sales to the Allies that had given us a tremendous stake in their victory. Americans were actually driving us into war by their fool-hardiness in sailing through waters infested with submarines. British propaganda was bringing us to think the Allies were fighting OUR fight, and that we should pitch in to "save the world for Democracy".

Did we save the world for Democracy? Everyone knows there is less democratic government in the world today than there was in 1917. Did our fighting a "war to end war", accomplish that fact? Far from it.

In truth one can hardly point to a single lasting benefit America conferred on humanity by getting dragged into the World War. Even before we declared war on Germany the Allies had agreed among themselves the terms they would impose if victorious. And the severity of those terms later became a source of anguish to President Wilson who honestly believed he was justified in leading his land into war. The history of Europe would be little different, fundamentally, if we had kept out. Germany would have lost, eventually, anyway—the British navy had that misguided people starved into submission. But how about the history of America?

That indeed, is another matter. How different would have been our national condition today and through the past decade, if we had kept out of that war. James Trueslow Adams wrote graphically in his book "The Epic of America" what a calamity it was for this comparatively young nation to have engaged in a European quarrel at a period in our national history when we should have been settling down and unifying ourselves in that era following the close of the pioneer days. And that was only a part of the sad picture this great mistake has painted on our record. There were over 40,000 American boys killed on the battlefields of France, while many times that number were tortured with wounds and crippled for life. Then it is safe to say more than a million mothers and fathers and sisters of the dead and wounded soldiers suffered untold agony for the loved ones who bled in that futile cause.

Nor is that all. The financial loss was terrific—we poured out billions in the war without stint and we shall continue to pour them out for years to come in the effort to partly recompense our boys for being sent into the mud and hell of that war. Yet the direct cost in money is not to be compared with the indirect cost which came from this depression and has brought broken lives to millions of Americans deprived of a way of earning an honest living.

We must not forget these facts. We must not forget that American taxpayers yet unborn will be paying for the debts created in our effort to fight Europe's battles, but far worse than that was the human suffering which cannot be paid for in any way.

Was it worth our candle? Did humanity gain anything worthwhile thru our participation in that foreign war? Certainly not. And by the same token humanity will not be benefited by our rushing into another senseless conflict. There is one provocation, and one alone under which we would be justified in mixing in war with any European nation. That provocation would be the bringing of a hostile force to the shores of the Americas. Any red-blooded man should fight for his home, and Americans should at all times be prepared to fight if attacked. But when we consider the destitute financial condition of all the engaged European powers and the further fact they are exhausting themselves in manpower as well as wealth by this new struggle, we need have small fear of them attacking the soil of the richest, most self-sufficient country in the world.

As you go down the street today look into the happy face of every boy you meet and ask yourself the question: Is the temporary settlement of this latest European quarrel enough to send these boys to be cut to pieces by their machine guns? We all know the answer, and just as truly as we know it we should religiously guard our minds from becoming inflamed with emotion which could bring us to again send American boys for European cannon fodder.

COMING EVENTS MAY BOOST FARMERS

There has been much discouragement in rural areas of this state the past few years. Farmers in western New York have been especially hard hit and many of them have doubtless mused upon the apparent futility of trying to get ahead on some of our poorer farms. Yet, perhaps the answer will eventually come, and come in ways of which they little dream.

Up in the state college at Ithaca professors are constantly trying to find solutions to the many problems that are holding our New York farmers back from enjoying as full prosperity as they might. At times they make startling new discoveries. And sometimes these discoveries look so promising they dare not announce them until thoroughly tested and ready for actual farm use.

Recently Dean Ladd of the College of Agriculture told a group of newspaper men about some of these discoveries. It was an "off the record" talk during which editors and publishers were given some brief glimpses behind the curtain which ordinarily screens the test tubes of experimentation until experiments are ready for country-wide broadcasting. Newspaper men jealously guard confidences, but it is no betrayal to say that two series of experiments are under way which quite likely will be of extreme benefit to farmers of Steuben County. Many a farm which is on the border line of failure today may be raised to profitable operation if one or the other of these experiments begins to measure up to present promises.

It has often been said that the darkest hours are just before dawn. This may be true of the period farmers in the state are now passing through. Aside from the possibility of better prices for products they may be greatly aided by new crops or methods which will enable them to operate land profitably which in the past has not paid the cost of cultivating. Wise farmers will keep their ears near the ground for new developments.

THE PRICE WE PAY

Many persons believe the European war will boost prices to levels comparable to 1917. Therefore the following study of commodity conditions put out this week by an industrial group should be of interest to all our readers.—Ed's note.

Big question in most minds today might be phrased like this: "How is the European war going to affect me?"

The answer to that must naturally vary with the work you do, the way you earn your living, in what section of the country you live, and what your station in life is. And the hazards of forecasting at this early stage are obvious. But, going by the experience of the past, it is the safest bet imaginable that the average man and woman is going to be affected by the European explosion, and in certain definite ways.

War is almost certain to have an influence on the cost of living in this country—and an unfavorable influence, looking at it from the point of view of the householder who has to pay the bills. However, there is no reason for believing, as thousands of people apparently did in the first days of the struggle, that prices are due for a prolonged trip to the economic stratosphere. All over the country people rushed into stores to lay in heavy supplies of sugar, flour and other staples. As a result, many localities reported themselves practically sold out of these commodities. Stores were forced to ration dwindling stocks. This was panic buying, which naturally created a high artificial price situation. Prices immediately soared to completely unreasonable levels from which, at this writing they have begun to drop.

The truth is that we have, and have long had, a heavy surplus of most commodities. Sugar stocks on hand recently touched an all-time high. This year's world wheat crop was the greatest on record, and the U. S. crop, while it did not set a record for us, was very large. We have an excess of flour in storage. Don't forget that the government has actually been paying out money in export subsidies in an effort to find a market for some of these surplus commodities.

As a result, even with heavy war demand, considerable time must pass before commodity supplies are reduced to "normal", much less below normal. The moral of it all is that the consumer has no immediate real worry about greatly soaring prices. Prices will tend upward, undoubtedly, and if the war goes on long enough a very serious booms can only follow mass hysteria. And the government has certain controls, long-established, which can be used effectively to curb profiteering and conscienceless speculation at the consumer's expense.

How, What and Why

This paper has arranged with the Office of Information of the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics to answer questions about problems of farm and home. If you enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and mention the name of this paper, you will receive a direct reply to your query from the colleges. Do not ask more than one question in one letter or on one post card. Ask as many questions as you like, but make each one a separate communication.

Rooting Raspberries

P. H. R., asks: "When is the best time to put down the tips of berry plants for new plantings? I have Columbian berries".

Professor J. Oskamp of the Pomology department answers: "Black raspberries and most purple raspberries, such as Columbian, are propagated from rooted cane tips or stolons.

"If the planting is left uncultivated and is not disturbed during the late summer, the long canes will be seen to trail upon the ground and take root during August and September. Rooting can be promoted by covering the ends of the canes with earth".

Pick Off Blossoms?

J. E. M., asks: "Have you had any experiments on the picking off of dead blooms on petunias? I have 500 plants in bloom and have a rule that all dead blooms are clipped each day or at least every other day. Many folks say this is not necessary and that the plants will continue to bloom just as profusely".

Kenneth Wheeler of the floriculture department replies: "We have not had any experiments on the removal of blossoms from petunias. It has been shown, however, that the removal of blossoms will increase the flowering quality of the plants since the food and energy used to produce seeds can be used by the plants to produce flowers.

"You may be interested in the system practiced in the petunia beds in the student garden at Cornell. Each shoot is allowed to flower without removing any of the seed pods. When the shoot is almost through blooming, it is cut off just below the point where the first flower developed.

"In this way new shoots constantly develop as the older ones bloom. We have been able to maintain a constantly high level of bloom with considerably less work".

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

The President has declared this country of ours to be in a state of "limited emergency" as a result of the war clouds and the thunder of the big guns on the far side of the Atlantic. And for a number of reasons it's important to define that phrase between the quotation marks, for it's a new term to Washington lawyers and statesmen, and to those of other nations also.

Washinton observers assume that the President, by adding that word "limited" to the usual form of the declaration, was seeking to direct attention to the fact that we shouldn't let events in the other hemisphere completely destroy our own American sense of proportion, our own American way of life. For no one who has viewed the frequently unpleasant happenings that make up the history of the world since 1918 can fail to realize that the greatest enemies of democracy are war and the threat of war. These have all too often provided an opening wedge for setting up a planned economy, which, once instituted, is seldom abandoned even with the return of peaceful times.

Therein lies the most powerful of reasons why we ought not to yield to what the psychologists call "war psychosis"—which simply is a kind of group mental disease by which people believe that our getting mixed up in the war is inevitable, and that everything this country does and thinks in the future ought to pay homage to that fear.

* * *

Neither the administration, nor industry, nor any other group in this country, is as yet willing to accept such a line of reasoning. It is only too clear that acceptance of the premise that the European war octopus is sure to get us can only, no matter what happens, work to the worst possible interest of our system of representative democracy and private enterprise.

The argument against letting ourselves be victimized by "war psychosis" is an extended practical one. At the root of it lies the knowledge that there is plenty of work to be done in this country, in putting our own house in order and achieving a return to sound prosperity, and that undue emphasis on legislative or administrative innovations under guise of necessary emergency measures will inevitably hobble this work.

Naturally, nothing that stands in the way of providing for national defense or strengthening the dikes of our neutrality can be countenanced for a moment. But our second line of defense in war, and our first line in peace, are our healthy American industries. These will be best prepared for any event, from "limited emergencies" right up and down the scale, if the present time is devoted to providing them with every possible encouragement to move ahead.

Washington thinking these days is following that tack more completely than it has in a long time. And many of those who disagree about everything else under the sun are now heard chorusing the cry that industry must be strengthened at this critical period in world affairs.

* * *

It is common knowledge to reporters that dependence on industry and its leaders increases in times of stress. This old axiom is being proved right now in the national capital, where government departments in which theorists once held sway are constantly being reinforced by practical men of affairs who won their spurs in business and possess a working knowledge of how to get things done quickly and well. Probably a baker's dozen or more of business leaders have been drafted by the government within the past month, either to fill important existing posts or to perform added chores made necessary by the new "limited emergency".

It's an old story to everyone but some of the fair-haired boys in politics—and yet, somehow, it seems to surprise them, every time it happens, to find out that it takes men of action and practical business experience to get things done!

Twenty-Seven Millions Invested in Steuben Farms

A graphic presentation of the agriculture of Steuben County was the theme of the farm bureau exhibit at the Steuben County Fair.

Dairying is the major enterprise with an annual income of four millions of dollars. To feed Steuben's dairy herd of 57,000 cattle, there are 1380,000 acres of permanent pasture, 160,000 acres are in hay. Sixty thousand acres of oats and barley are sown each year and 17,000 acres of corn are required to fill the silos on Steuben's dairy farms.

Steuben is famous for potatoes, the annual production of which amounts to 4,000,000 bushels. Three hundred and forty-seven thousand hens produce a million dollars' worth of eggs. There are 25,000 sheep and the bean crop is valued at half a million dollars.

Nineteen thousand acres of buckwheat are grown, and 2,000 acres of muck land produce vast quantities of onions, celery, lettuce and other vegetables.

Five thousand acres of grapes are the basis of the wine and grape juice industry for which Lake Keuka is famous. The tobacco grown in the Tioga Valley yields an income of $25,000. Seven thousand acres are sown to wheat each year, and the horses on Steuben County farms are worth a million and a half dollars.

With farms and buildings, according to recent census, valued at $27,000 000, and an annual gross income of ten to twelve million dollars, Steuben ranks as one of the major farm countries of the Empire State.

Alfred Squad Prepares For Tough Season

Alfred, Sept. 18—Head Coach Alex Yunevich of Alfred University has spent the past week wondering what the person who first said "manpower in a football team" really meant.

Arrival of Harold Rouff, veteran guard from Endicott and Ed Chrzan, sophomore backfield man from Olean the early part of this week sent Yunevich's pre-season football squad soaring to the twenty total—just two men short of two complete teams. And Yunevich—with but a short week remaining before Alfred opens its season—doesn't know just where he is going to get any more men.

The Saxons open their seven-game season Saturday night, September 23 against a veteran Hartwick College eleven under the lights of Merrill Field at Alfred.

Yet, despite the sore need of reserve strength, Alex the Great has been doing wonders with his skeleton squad. His first team he can find very little fault with. But his worry is in what he is going to do to help those first eleven men thru the season, a season that looms as one of the toughest in recent Alfred gridiron history.

Already the first team has regained the power and rhythm that it possessed in the past two years. For the first team's line is the same line of the past two years. Phil Greenman of Portville and Dick Brownell of Salamanca are teamed at ends; Butch Eschbach, husky Teuton from Milton, Pa. and Big Bill Riley of Wyoming, Pa. hold down the tackle assignments; Rouff and Dick Callista of Erie, Pa., are the guards while Snuffy Edleson, the clown of the squad, is back in his old center post. All are seniors, playing their third and last year of varsity ball.

The backfield, however, looks as though it will be predominantly sophomores. The only veteran who has clinched his assignment is the "Ebony Express" from Milton, Pa.—Walter (Bo) Johnson, high scoring back in the East two seasons back. He'll play left half. Other backfield candidates are Sophomore Johnny Eggleton from Brooklyn, Mike Greene from Carmel and Duke Dutkowski of Flint, Mich. Veteran Larry Bizet is having a battle holding the right half from Eggleton. Greene and Dutkowski will take the full back and quarter posts.

Prof. Wingate Joins American Carillon Group

Alfred, Sept.—Prof. Ray W. Wingate, director of the music department at Alfred University and carillonneur for the Davis Memorial Carillon, has just been accepted to full membership in the American Congress of Carillonneurs. He attended the annual meeting during Labor Day week in New York City. Dr. Wingate was in Addison last year with the Alfred Glee Club as director.

The Congress, with a membership of just under 20, requires applicants to play several different carillons with which they are not familiar as a part of the test given for membership. Professor Wingate played six different carillons in and near New York City as his test. He played three at the World's Fair—The Belgian and the two Netherlands, and three in other places—the Riverside Carillon in New York City, one in Rumson, N. J., and one in Morristown, N. J. Professor Wingate began playing the Davis Memorial Carillon in October 1937 without having lessons in carillon playing. During the two years he has consulted with two or three carillonneurs but has taken no course of training. His programs draw increasingly large crowds, Friday evening at 7:30 and Sunday afternoon at 3:00 (daylight saving time while that is in vogue).

A movement is on foot to bring the Congress to Alfred for the annual meeting in August 1940. At these meetings, carillonneurs give three programs daily, some playing their original compositions. Kamiel Lefevere, carillonneur at the Riverside Church, New York City, was elected president for the coming year.

4-H CLUB NEWS

The 4-H Clubs of Steuben County are finishing a very successful and busy 4-H Club year. In reality, doing a year's work in seven months since the work started for the first time last spring.

Almost every project in the county is nearing completion which means that 4-H Club boys and girls who have not already done so, should complete their project records and hand them to their local leaders or mail them to this office not later than October 1. Potato members will be given a little more lee-way since late potato projects will not be completed at that date.

A county wide meeting for all club members and leaders in the county is being planned for the middle of October at which time bronze achievement pins, County Fair checks and other awards will be made in addition to which there will be an entertaining program.

REORGANIZATION —

September and October are the months during which all 4-H Clubs started the past year should be reorganized. Ne wofficers including presidents, vice presidents, secretaries, treasurers, news reporters, cheer leaders should be elected. A club program for the new full year should be planned. A committee appointed at the reorganization should meet separately with the local leader and, when possible, with the club agent, will prove a most satisfactory means of planning a successful program.

NEW CLUBS TO BE ORGANIZED

There have been many requests already, some of which are left over from last year, for new boys' and girls' 4-H Clubs. These clubs will be started as soon as possible. Any other communities wishing 4-H Club work which have not already requested it, should do so immediately if they wish to organize a club this fall since it is hoped that all new clubs as well as all other clubs, will be organized before the first of November. This is absolutely essential in homemaking clubs since the first training school for homemaking leaders will be held on November 3.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Treating Wheat for Fall Planting

The Department of Agriculture of the Addison High School has a gravity seed treater which can be borrowed by any farmer in the neighborhood who desires to treat his wheat for seed borne diseases with the new ceresan treatment.

This new gravity seed treating method is one of the latest and best methods of getting rid of smut in your grain. Each year millions of dollars are lost by farmers due to smut destruction.

This treatment is simple, having a trough to put the grain in, then one-fourth to one-half ounce of ceresan applied. This trough is raised and the grains run down through the baffle boards causing a thorough mixture into a bag at the bottom of the treater. Grain shouldn't be left setting around long after this treatment before planting due to possible injury to the seed.

This method of treating smut is also very economical, costing about three cents a bushel, compared to smut losses of a couple of dollars per acre for grain not treated.

Farm Measurements

Last week's Advertiser carried a story of the capacity of silos in the F. F. A. column. This week we will list other common measurements found around the farm.

Grain: A bushel of grain contains approximately one and one-fourth cubic feet. To find the capacity of a bin find the number of cubic feet and divide by one and one-fourth or five-fourths.

Example: Bin five feet by five feet by two feet or 50 cubic feet. Fifty cubic feet divided by five-fourths equals a capacity of 40 bushels

Ear Corn: Two bushels of ears by measure are ordinarily required to make one bushel of grain. The cubic feet of ears multiplied by four and divided by ten gives the bushels of grain. By weight 70 pounds of ear corn usually equals 56 pounds (one bushel) of shelled corn.

Hay: Some kinds of hay are heavier than others. The deeper the mow or stack and the longer the hay has stood the heavier it is per cubic foot. The bottom of the mow is much heavier than the top. Timothy hay is heavier than clover or alfalfa. About 500 cubic feet of well settled timothy hay in a mow of average depth usually will weigh about one ton. In the bottom of the mow 450 cubic feet may weigh a ton. In low mows or stacks or in the top of a mow more than 500 cubic feet of hay will be required to make a ton.

Example: Mow 36 x 16 x 20 equals 11,520 cubic feet. 11520 divided by 500 (average number of cubic feet per ton) and the answer equals 23 and two-fifths tons.

Straw: About 1200 cubic feet of well settled straw usually will weigh about one ton.

Example: Mow 30 x 15 x 20 equals 9,000 cubic feet, divided by 1200 cubic feet to the ton equals seven and one-half tons.

Farmers who come under the State and Federal Milk Marketing Agreement are receiving by mail, a ballot upon which to record their vote regarding the change in the minimum Class I price for milk.

The amendments provide that the minimum Class I price for any month between the time of adoption May 1, 1940 shall be $2.82 per hundredweight. This sets the minimum price only, the provisions of the order with regard to higher prices in the event the prices of butter so justifies, still holds.

They provide for a minimum Class II A price for the same period of $1.50 per hundredweight. This again is a minimum price only.

The amendment further provides that milk purchased for distribution to relief clients under a program approved by the secretary and upon which payments are made out of Federal Funds, shall be priced at 57 cents per hundredweight below the Class I price.

It is assumed that if this milk were sold on a competitive market it would be sold in one of the lower classifications, and that 57 cents less that the Class I price will return more for the producers than would milk sold for manufacture.

Producers who do not receive a ballot and in whose behalf no cooperative association is to vote, should send to E. M. Harmon, 95 Madison Ave., New York for a ballot. A person may vote either individually or through his cooperative association on the proposed amendment.

September Crop Report

The following crop report has been issued by the Department of Farms and Markets for September 1, 1939. Growing crops may change slightly the next few weeks if frost holds off. On certain items such as potatoes, buckwheat, etc, these are estimates from the data on hand and not actual figures.

Buckwheat: The buckwheat crop is very uneven. Some fields are too short to harvest Many fields will not mature if an early frost comes. Two-thirds of the country's buckwheat is grown in New York and Pennsylvania where growing conditions have been poor. Present indications point to the smallest crop for the whole country on record.

Potatoes: Indications are there will be fewer bushels of potatoes in New York State than the ten-year average from 1928-37. Pennsylvania will also have a smaller crop, however, Maine a large potato producing state will exceed its last year's average greatly and will also exceed the average of the past ten years. Probably the potato yield, will for the country as a whole, be normal.

Pastures: In New York State pastures are only about 60 per cent of normal growth. Thus farmers have been obliged to feed corn, silage and other roughage. Grain feeding is heavier than normal.

Hay: Yields of hay have been poor throughout the state. There has been practically no second cutting. Yields in the rest of the country are normal.

New Seedings: New seeding is poor throughout the state. The cold, wet spring retarded the sowing of oats until the protracted dry weather came, thus causing unfavorable catches.

Milk: The amount of milk produced in New York state per cow, per day has been the lowest for September first for which records are available with but one exception.

Uniform Price of $1.89 For August Milk

New York, Sept. 20—E. M. Harmon, administrator of the Federal-State orders regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan marketing area, today announced a uniform price of $1.89 per hundred weight for 3.5 percent butterfat content milk received from producers during the month of August at handlers' plants in the 201-210 mile zone from New York City.

This price to be paid producers represents an increase of 39 cents per hundredweight over the price announced under the Federal-State orders for July deliveries, Mr. Harmon said.

In addition to the uniform price announced for August milk, producers should receive from handlers seven and one half cents per hundredweight as a "premium" payment. This "premium" represents the amount by which the uniform price was increased as the result of the higher prices dealers agreed to pay producers beginning August 25, following a conference called by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia.

The August uniform price of $1.89 under the Federal-State orders is based on a Class I, or fluid milk, price of $2.25 per hundredweight, a Class II-A, or fluid cream, price of $1.55 per hundredweight and the following prices for each of the remaining seven classes of milk which represent the value of milk used for various manufactured products: Class II-B milk, $1.38 per hundredweight; Class III-A milk, $1.281 per hundredweight; Class III-B milk, $1.051 per hundredweight: Class III-C milk, $.95.1 per hundredweight; Class IV-A milk, 85.1 cents per hundredweight, and Class IV-B milk, 98.8 cents per hundredweight.

Producers delivering milk to plants located in zones nearer or farther than the 201-210 mile zone from New York City will receive from handlers the uniform price plus or minus differentials for location. Differentials for butterfat content above or below 3.5 percent are also required to be accounted for by handlers in their payments to producers.

Mr. Harmon reported that the total amount of milk involved in the uniform price computation for August amounted to 328,169,911 pounds of which approximately 84 percent was used for fluid milk and fluid cream purposes. This milk, based on the value of each of the nine classes established by the orders, had a net value of $6,305,143.55. Out of this amount there had to be deducted $197,474.09 for market service claims of handlers and for payments to cooperatives, leaving $6,107,669.46.

Claims filed by handlers for market service payments amount to $126,055.69. These payments are provided for in the orders on surplus milk moved to manufacturing plants when not needed in the market. Actual payments will be made only after the books of handlers making claims are audited. Payments to cooperatives total $71,418.40 and are made to those cooperatives which were determined by the Secretary of Agriculture and Markets as meeting certain requirements established by the orders. These requirements relate to the ability and willingness of the cooperative to function in a manner which will serve the market as a whole.

Handlers' claims for market service payments and payments to cooperatives for August compared with those for July, show a reduction of nearly $200,000, reflecting the shortening supply of milk largely because of drought.

To the $6,107,669.46 the market administrator added $249,449.81 which represents all of the reserve set aside last month plus approximately $70,000 in payments made by handlers on items due for the period prior to February 1, 1939, and less about $30,000 of disputed items, making a total of $6,357,119.27. Out of this amount the market administrator is holding as a reserve required by the orders $154,707.95 to provide against the contingency of errors in reports and payments or of delinquencies in payments by handlers.

Approximately 61,000 farmers in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and Vermont produced the milk during August which will be paid for by handlers under the terms of the Federal-State orders regulating the handling of milk in the New York Metropolitan marketing area. These orders establish minimum prices for producers only. Prices at which consumers buy their milk are left to the forces of competition in the market.

Newark Valley — Elmer Ford, 20, took an early morning motor detour through a corn field and as a result was arrested for destroying a field of corn and also for driving without a license.

This Week In Sports

Coach Bill Miller will have but six veteran football men in line getting ready for the eight-game schedule which is being prepared by league officials. This is a tough break for any football mentor to face at the opening of the season.

—o—

Sunday's two baseball games here between Gang Mills and Caton produced some great baseball and some very mediocre baseball. I still think Gang Mills is the better team in the pinches. League officials present still do not seem much concerned with getting a game started, even with a double header offering, the starting time was 40 minutes behind scredule.

—o—

Two Ton Tony Galento rather upset the dope on the clean-living boys for Lou Nova, knocked out in the 14th round last Friday is about the cleanest living young collegian in the fight ranks. Tony trained in his beer joint, which I'm told is one of the dirtiest in Jersey.

—o—

Bob Pastor, Louis' opponent Wednesday night is also a collegian, having majored in English and spent the time since graduating in studying pictures of Joe Louis and his methods of fighting. How many of you listened to the fight last night, Wednesday, between Louis and Pastor?

—o—

The Yankees are champions in the American League and clinched that title for this season in Saturday's game which put them 17 games ahead in the American League. They have been topsiders all season. This is the fourth straight pennant for Joe McCarthy.

Cincinnati is in first place in the National League with hopes of staying there, but their margin is not so comfortable for Sunday they were leading only by three and one-half games. They have "Bucky" Walters, a reformed infielder, pitching and he won 20 games so far this season for the outstanding work in the older league.

—o—

Despite over half of Europe being engaged in war, little Finland is completing arrangements for the Olympic internationals, to be held in 1940. United States is also continuing training athletes and raising funds through the universities to finance participation.

—o—

Arrangements have been completed for the opening of the World Series in New York October 4. Officials of the Yankees met with officials of the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cards to complete plans. The Cards are the only team in position in the National League to nose out the Reds.

—o—

In a recent Brooklyn Dodger-Pittsburg Pirate contest Hugh Casey, pitching for the Dodgers allowed the Pirates 14 hits, with about everyone in the Pirate lineup hitting, and yet Casey allowed only one run. Old timers are recalling this was Christy Mathewson's trick, lots of hits but few runs.

—o—

Charlie Bowser, the new football coach at Pitt, was a star on that team back in 1920 and 1922.

Cornell's depleted line looks weak compared to last year owing to graduation. Coach snavely started practice sessions last week, late owing to an agreement with Princeton and other eastern league teams.

—o—

Jack Meagher, Notre Dame star of 1919, 1920 and 1921, has been a head coach in some institution since graduation. He is Alabama's coach at present, and has been since 1934. His new contract will run until September, 1943.

—o—

The Irish sweepstakes winners will not be in the big money this year according to announcement of the promoters of this famous lottery. Winners will receive but $4,000 plus, rather than the $150,000's and other like prizes as in the past. The change is owing to war conditions in Europe.

—o—

Delos Wade, 43, pitched 15 scoreless innings in a 17 inning game played in Talihina, Oklahoma. His son hit the winning ball to end the tie at 5 to 4.

—o—

Co-educational recreation is becoming more prevalent in colleges and high school sports today. Mixed teams play in tennis, badminton, swimming, handball, fencing, archery, golf and canoeing. The idea seems to be working out pretty good where tried and eliminates the fences between teams which formerly were noted on all college athletic fields.

—o—

Incidentally there is talk of getting the fair sex to pedal in the six-day bicycle races to add some glamor to this most uninteresting of sports for the spectators.

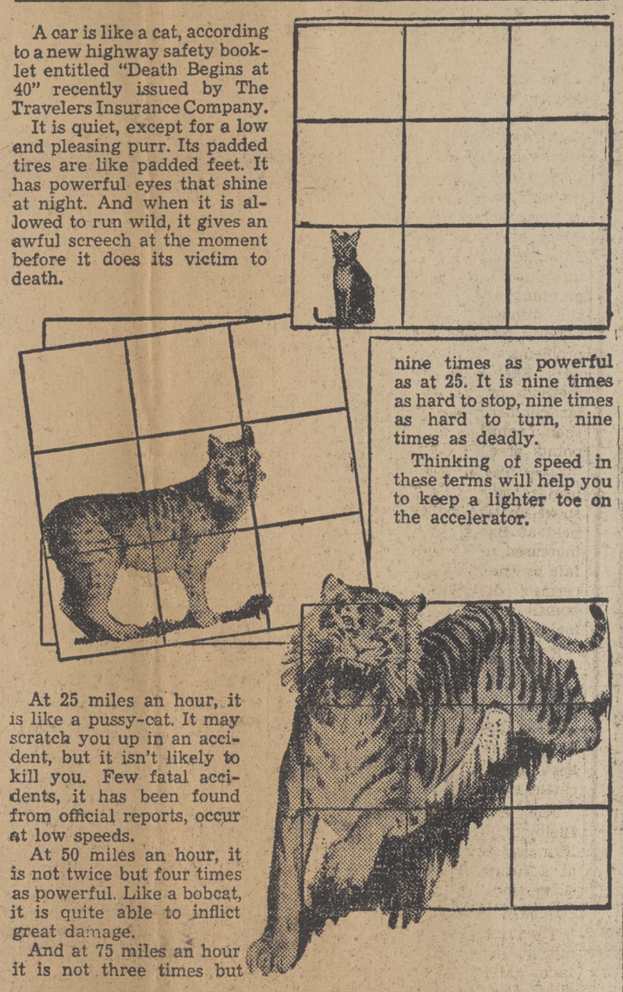
—o—

Begins to look as tho Addison will get the playoffs in the Little Six after all for Sunday's game at Pyrex Park, Corning was rained off in the third inning. Gang Mills and Caton, winners in the league contest will play here in a double-header Sunday beginning shortly after one o'clock.

A Lesson in Zoology—For Drivers

A car is like a cat, according to a new highway safety booklet entitled "Death Begins at 40" recently issued by The Travelers Insurance Company.

It is quiet, except for a low and pleasing purr. Its padded tires are like padded feet. It has powerful eyes that shine at night. And when it is allowed to run wild, it gives an awful screech at the moment before it does its victim to death.



At 25 miles an hour, it is like a pussy-cat. It may scratch you up in an accident, but it isn't likely to kill you. Few fatal accidents, it has been found from official reports, occur at low speeds.

At 50 miles an hour, it is not twice but four times as powerful. Like a bobcat, it is quite able to inflict great damage.

And at 75 miles an hour it is not three times but nine times as powerful as at 25. It is nine times as hard to stop, nine times as hard to turn, nine times as deadly.

Thinking of speed in these terms will help you to keep a lighter toe on the accelerator.

From pre game predictions it looks as tho Syracuse will have the strongest team in the upstate big three this year. Cornell has lost several good linesmen and Colgate will also have to rebuild after a disastrous year last season. Of course applecarts are often upset as evidence the Penn-Syracuse game last year.

—o—

A team of all right-handed players, age 14, defeated a team of all left-handers, same age, in New York Saturday, 3 to 2.

—o—

An insurance company has found that in 1938 they paid more for accidents to jitterbugs than to those injured in boxing. Think this over boys and girls when rug cutting.

—o—

The National Boxing Association honored Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion Tuesday night at a banquet held in Hotel Willard, Washington. A motion picture of Jack's life from "rods to riches" was shown.

—o—

For the first time since 1915 there was no soccer playing in the big parks in England and Scotland. And war was the cause of this week-end's quiet as well as that of 1915 with the same enemy.

—o—

And the manager of the Philadelphia Eagles has issued an edict that no members of the professional team are to discuss the war in the locker rooms or on the field. Poles, Germans, Greeks, Irish, English and Italians compose the team membership.

—o—

Boxing fans will keep their ears tuned to their radios Friday night when the probable challenger for the heavyweight boxing title will emerge. The Friday go in the Municipal Stadium, Philadelphia will be between Lou Nova, the Pacific Coast hope and the tavern keeper, Two Ton Tony Galento of Jersey. The winner will probably have a crack at the winner of the Joe Louis-Bob Pastor bout September 20.

—o—

Coach Bill Miller had his football charges out each afternoon after school and by the looks of the squad, he is going to have the heaviest squad he has had in the three years since football was introduced here. He also will have a fast squad with many veterans on the team. More about this later.

—o—

Jimmy Foxx, Boston Red Sox first baseman and one of the big sticks in baseball is in St. Joseph's Hospital in Philadelphia where he had an emergency operation for appendicitis.

—o—

The Addison Fish and Game Club meet brought some of the best riflemen and sporting dogs in the Southern Tier to Addison Sunday. Rain called off the derby stakes in the bird dog trials, which was too bad, for there were some sleek looking dogs there and many who showed wonderful handling on the part of their owners.

Whitesville — The Covell Beach Chair Company here has been sold by its owner, Lewis Covell to Glen Mapes of Hornell.

—o—

Penn Yan — Delicious grapes but short harvest assured here.

Penn Yan—Clarence R. Smith of this village was elected state historian of the American Legion at the recent Albany convention.

Mrs. Mary Brown of Faulkner, N. Y., visited Miss Gertrude Cornwell Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Stewart and son Gene spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hilborn of Elkland.

Mr .and Mrs. A. B. Ackerson visited at the home of the former's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Dickerson of Wellsville, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Beldon Ackerson called on Mr. and Mrs. Ben Howard of Borden Sunday.

RISINGVILLE

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cole are ill of whooping cough. Baby Irene is under the doctor's care.

Mrs. Douglas Vosburg was in the peach country one day this week.

Word has been received here of the serious illness of Frank Ingraham of Vestal, due to stroke of paralysis. Mr. Ingraham has been in ill health for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Buck called on Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brace on Simon's Hill Sunday.

Mark Morse was in Bath on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Decker called on her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Beebe Monday.

Those from this vicinity who attended Bath Fair last week were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Vosburg, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rumsey, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Buck, William, and Margaret Decker, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Aldrich and daughter Susan.

Doris Cole of Addison is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Don Cole.

Penn Yan—Horace Mills, 92, former photographer here died September 3, 1939.

The Rambler

Church leaders of all denominations are asking their adherents to say prayers for "peace" in Europe and peace from the madman ruling Germany and who has brought about the chaotic condition of the world. I have the greatest of respect for the German people having lived among many of them during the World War. And I know they abhor this crazed leader and his methods of maintaining leadership. Things look bad for the democracies now.

—o—

Canning season is on us again and with it comes the profiteers who took advantage of the war scare in Europe to boost sugar two cents per pound here and take other commodities out of their regular range. Every war has produced these Rhett Butlers and the like.

—o—

Construction business in the village has taken a temporary boom, what with all the work being done in the Knebel house, formerly the Baldwin house, renovations in the Market Basket and a new store front on the Fred Frost store. However, in some cases I noticed many out-of-town workers. This will not keep local men buying groceries. This marks one step in the slow disintegration of the village.

—o—

I'm still wondering what happened to the sidewalk the county is supposed to fix on Front Street for I have been hearing more about that lately.

—o—

And while on the subject of safety, how about some of the local motorists stopping at the stop signs placed around the village? A stop may save a life or limb. It is better to stop and be safe than not to stop and be sorry. It only takes one accident to kill or maim and you may have it.

—o—

Imagine of having the hottest days of the summer season in the middle of September? Such was the experience of most of New York's cities during the past week-end when Friday and Saturday's heat jumped the thermometer from 95 to 107 in the sun, depending upon where you were located. And that from a 50 degree Thursday last week and a 56 degree Monday of this week. Such sudden changes raised cain with everyone and everything, throwing eating and clothing schedules all off.

—o—

Some self-styled sportsmen are taking fish illegally from the Tuscarora Creek. Some of them are known to real sportsmen in the community and if the practice is not stopped, the sportsmen are going to report the practice and names to Conservation Officer Ray Reed for action. This is a poor season for fish and trout season is closed. It it hoped in time to make this a real trout stream, but with illegal fishing by darn poor sports, it will never be a good stream.

—o—

Heard Commissioner of Farms and Markets Noyes speak on the milk situation Friday night. He suggested nearly the same line of action as was recommended by Francis Kane at a recent Ad Club dinner, a report of which was printed in this paper.

—o—

It actually happened right in Dansville.—A group of young ladies had just finished punching the time clock in a local plant when a discussion of the latest war news started. One of the gals who had scanned the headlines while eating the morning meal had the dope "What do you know-" the informed one, inquired "The Germans have almost reached Warsaw". "Jeepers, Creepers", exclaimed one of her attentive listeners, "are we going to be in for it now, why Warsaw is only a little way from Perry". Yes, she meant it.

Wayland — Mrs. W. E. Hertenstein has been chosen vice chairman of the seventh district of the Legion Auxiliary. She formerly headed the Steuben County Auxiliary.

Home Bureau Units Exhibit at County Fair

The exhibit of Steuben County Home Bureau at the Bath Fair caused a good deal of comment and many questions were asked by those who saw the exhibit. The purpose of the exhibit was to show how an attractive color harmony may be developed with consideration for the design and color of pieces of large equipment in the kitchen and permanent finishes such as walls and floor. The exhibit showed only the actual accomplishments of different homemakers who cooperated in the project.

Homemtkers who contributed articles were Mrs. Howard Strait of the Addison Unit who developed a color scheme from some new figured curtains that she needed for her kitchen. Mrs. Strait made the changes with practically no other additional expense. Mrs. Stanley Hoaglin of the Campbell Creek Unit developed her kitchen color scheme from a picture which she liked and saved to put in the kitchen. Mrs. Hoagland's changes were made also with practically no outlay of money as she even dyed the curtains she already had so that they would fit in with her new color harmony.

Three homemakers who worked from patterned wallpaper were Mrs. Albert Burns of Campbell Creek Unit, Mrs. Arling Cobb of Greenwood Unit and Mrs. Charles Gates of Arkport Unit. Mrs. Cobb dyed curtain material to fit in with her color harmony. Mrs. Burns had planned to buy new curtains and an interesting part of her kitchen is a very light yellow oilcloth cover for her round table. This is bound with two colors of bias binding and a third color of rickrack to bring out the three colors which she stressed in her harmony. Mrs. Gates not only worked on a new color harmony for her kitchen but completely changed the arrangement of her kitchen equipment at a very small cost. In addition to her new wallpaper she added bright red oiled silk curtains so that as a result she not only has a very attractive kitchen but a much more convenient work shop.

Mrs. Fred Parish of the South Hornell Unit made her plan from the bright colors in her china. She too made an interesting table cover with binding of the three colors she used. Her kitchen is characterized by many small items of interest, every article made to fit into the complete picture.

The keynote of the entire exhibit was the amount of color and the many different colors that may well be used in a kitchen to give a bright and cheerful effect. Although there are a very limited number of true colors it is interesting to see what different effects may be procured when colors are carefully mixed. The committee in charge of planning the exhibit was Mrs. Aaron Putnam of Wheeler and Mrs. Arling Cobb of Greenwood, both members of the County Home Bureau executive committee.

Ag. and Home Ec. Teachers Meet In Avoca High

The first meeting of the Steuben County teachers of Agriculture and Home Economics was held at Avoca High Monday night with 14 present from each group.

The Agriculture teachers met in the high school with Leonard Palmer of Northside as Chairman. Professor Olney of the Department of Rural Education in Cornell University was introduced. He discussed lesson planning and job unit analysis. In the discussion following the talk, various points relative to certain problems of teaching were explained. Each teacher presented the methods he uses under his particular conditions. The methods were then compared and the strong points of each brought out.

Leon Taylor, County 4-H Club leader, was then presented. He spoke on the county fair which was held at Bath recently. Due to the increased number of exhibits at the fair by the newly formed 4-H Clubs certain difficulties arose. Many points were discussed relative to making the fair better next year.

Frank Finnerty of the Addison Agriculture Department presented a list of suggestions relative to the F. F. A. chapter and poultry exhibits. Lawrence Deitrick of Painted Post High presented a similar list of suggestions for improving the cattle exhibit.

The chairman appointed Smith Bielby of Bath, Mr. Deitrick and Mr. Finnerty to meet with Mr. Taylor at a future date and work up the suggestions to be presented to the Fair committee.

The Home Economics teachers met in the Avoca Homemaking Cottage. Miss Viola Neil of Corning Northside was elected leader. The meeting was given over to a discussion of the problems of the new teachers.

Both groups will meet in Bath October 16.

Around Our House

School Lunch Boxes

A toot of the school bus horn, a dash for the lunch box, a quick goodbye, and many rural youngsters are off to school for the day. They will look forward to the noon-hour with more glee if ample care has been taken in planning the packing of their lunch boxes.

A permanent lunch box that can be scrubbed and aired each day makes it possible to have varied foods for lunch, besides preserving the contents of the box in their original appetizing form (which the paper-bag lunch will probably not do.)

A lunch box should be large enough to hold some kind of a jar with a tight leak-proof top for an occasional salad or fruit dessert. A thermos bottle for hot soup, cocoa, or some other hot dish, is desirable.

To keep the flavors of different kinds of sandwiches separate and to clean, care should be taken to wrap each separately in wax paper. Carrot and celery strips also might well be wrapped in wax paper to preserve their crispness and to prevent their moisture from making other food soggy.

Most boys and girls appreciate a lunch with an occasional "surprise package". This might be a special piece of cake, or cookies.

On top of the lunch many mothers place two paper napkins: one to be spread out on the desk to make eating more like a meal at home, and the other to be used as a regular napkin.

Making School Clothes

As summer draws to a close, the making of school clothes for the children becomes a concern to many mothers. Here are pointers, from the New York State College of Home Economics, to make the clothes serviceable.

For economy and long service, make the hems of little girls' dresses and small boys' blouses six or eight inches wide. When making the hem, use the sewing machine to stitch the first fold one-eighth of an inch from the edge; then turn up the hem to the proper length and simply slip-stitch it into place. Later, the job of lengthening will be simplified.

A wide hem on a small boy's blouse allows for adjusting buttons. To keep these buttons from pulling out, use twilled tape as a reinforcement; use one-fourth-inch tape and stitch one edge of the tape to the hem edge, then turn up the hem so that the sturdy tape is right under the spot where the button that supports the trousers will be sewed on. The supporting buttons will stay on longer if they are made firm by baby buttons fastened directly underneath on the inside of the garment.

Buttonholes also need attention. Plackets often gap because buttonholes slide or are placed incorrectly. To prevent this, place the top button at the upper end of the buttonhole and the second button at the lower end.

Pockets will be more serviceable if they are cut out large enough for the child's clenched fist to enter and withdraw easily. Place them low enough so that the hands cannot push down in them.

Double stitch any place where strains are likely to break the stitching, such as around the armholes, the underarm seams, neck edges and plackets.

Flood Group Meets Friday—Crane to Attend

Attorney Charles L. Crane will leave Addison Friday to begin a two-day tour of the Federal Flood Control projects being undertaken in the Southern Tier. This tour is being made by the Flood Control Commission appointed by the legislature of which Mr. Crane is legal counsellor. He was appointed two weeks ago by Hon. Earle S. Warner, State Senator for this district and chairman of the Commission.

This Commission is composed of four members of the Senate, four members of the Assembly and four laymen. Hon. Charles McManus, former surrogate, Corning, has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Michael Cahill of Corning.

The Commission acts as an agency for the state in assisting in the institution and consummation of Federal long range projects of flood control and regulation in this state and will cooperate with other state agencies in the control of flood waters. Members of the Commission serve without pay, except the officers.

The first inspection trip beginning Friday will survey the work at Canandaigua, Arkport, Hornell, Avoca, Bath, Hammondsport, Penn Yan and Watkins Glen. Saturday the group will go to Montour Falls, Whitney Point, Lisle Center and Binghamton.

Attorney Crane is well fitted to serve the Commission by virtue of his knowledge of the district and his interest in its development and also in the protection of property. He is a native of Cameron where he was born September 12, 1879. His parents were Milton and Sarah Snyder Crane. He was graduated from Addison High School and from Syracuse University. He located in Addison in 1905 as a partner with Edwin C. Smith, later justice of the supreme court. He was postmaster of Addison under President W. H. Taft. He was district deputy grand master of the Masonic district. He is a member of Delta Chi legal fraternity, of the Addison Methodist church, was president of the Steuben Bar Association for two years; president of the Steuben County Syracuse University Alumni Association; and has held many other positions. He has a large and profitable legal practice. He ranks as one of the ablest speakers and platform orators in the county.

State Starts Investigation In Food Profiteering

Frenzied buying of foodstuffs because of the European war abated in Upstate New York last week as state officials moved to prevent profiteering in staples.

A survey, taken after State Agriculture Commissioner Holton V. Noyes announced a statewide investigation of alleged price increases, as asked by Governor Lehman, showed a return to calm buying although prices of sugar, flour and meats remained approximately on the level reached late last week.

The only appreciable decrease in prices was noted in Buffalo, where pork and sugar led the downtrend. One large grocery there cut the price for sugar 30 cents per 100 pounds and most retailers have removed restrictions on quantity buying.

Noyes said he was not certain "what steps the department might take" if unfair practices are disclosed by its investigation. He said he expected a report "within the week".

Suspension Down 23 Per Cent Says Commissioner Mealey

Albany, September 18—Driver license revocations for driving while intoxicated declined 21 percent during the first eight months of the year, in New York State, according to Commissioner Carroll E. Mealey of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Making public a report of license revocations and suspensions for the period ended August 31, Commissioner Mealey said that revocations for all causes were down more than 16 percent and suspensions were down 23 percent.

In the eight month period, the license revocations totaled 3,444, of which 1,266 were for drunken driving. In the corresponding period last year, revocations numbered 4,133, of which 1,610 wer feor drunken driving.

Suspensions for all causes totalled 12,539 during the period, compared to 16,321 a year ago. Cases requiring proof of financial responsibility were also lower, numbering 5,145 compared to 6,474 at the same time a year ago.

LOOKING FORWARD

By Franklyn Waltman
Publicity Director, Republican National Committee

Nothing that President Roosevelt has done in a long time has given rise to so much speculation and theorizing as his appointment of pretty boy Paul V. McNutt as Administrator of the newly-created Federal Security Administration. The appointment was as surprising as it is intriguing.

One school of political writers believe Mr. Roosevelt in masterly fashion eliminated from the forthcoming Presidential race a doughty and potent opponent. Another argues that Mr. Roosevelt's move was inspired to build up the former Indiana Governor as a running mate next year for the Vice Presidency.

A few—friends of the pretty boy—assert that Mr. Roosevelt intends Mr. McNutt to be his successor. Many see in the appointment a cruel slap at Democratic National Chairman Jim Farley, some going so far as to contend that Mr. Roosevelt took Mr. McNutt in order to get his campaign manager, Frank McHale, to handle his own race for a third term.

F. D. R. Played Politics

But whatever the line of reasoning attributed to the President, one thing stands out as certain as night follows day, namely, that Mr. Roosevelt was playing politics when he named a Federal Security Administrator. He used an agency established to administer efficiently the humanitarian functions of the Federal Government to serve purely, partisan political ends. There is no dispute about that — except a disclaimer from Mr. Roosevelt.

In his new post Mr. McNutt will have under his jurisdiction the old-age pensions and unemployment insurance of the Social Security Act; the Civilian Conservation Corps with its tens of thousands of youth approaching voting age; the former National Youth Administration, the public health service and similar agencies.

What are Mr. McNutt's qualifications to administer such agencies and functions? Has he a reputation as a great humanitarian? He has not. He is known to the country for establishing in Indiana the most brazen partisan political machine ever created in any state, except that in Louisiana set up by Huey Long. No Governer in recent years earned the right to be known as a "spoilsman" as did pretty boy McNutt when he sat in the Governor's chair in Indiana.

His Word Remains Law

Under his Administration was established what is known as the "Indiana Two Per-Cent Club" which levied against two per cent of the salary of every state employee. This was the war chest for the McNutt gang. Other revenue, too, went into that war chest about which Indianans talk in whispers. Even though it has been three years since pretty boy McNutt was Governor of Indiana, his voice is still regarded as law in that state, so firmly do he and his henchmen hold the reins of government.

There was something about the McNutt administration in Indiana—such as using troops against organized labor—which caused people to think of Fascism when they thought of the pretty boy. In Washington, mention of McNutt's name still brings the word "Fascism" to mind.

Such is the man Mr. Roosevelt has placed in control of the lives of millions of Americans to serve his partisan ends. What is more, Mr. McNutt still aspires to the Presidency. Does anyone doubt he would hesitate a minute to use the power of his new office for political ends should the occasion arise? Certainly his part record should leave no doubt on that score.

Need For Hatch Bill

Passage of the Hatch Bill outlawing political activity in the Federal service, in its strictest version, cannot now be enacted too quickly. Otherwise we are confronted with a situation in which those on the old-age pension rolls, those in the CCC camps and others in distress may be subjected to the same intimidation and terrorization by politcal spoilsmen as were the WPA relief workers in some states last year.

Apparently Mr. Roosevelt is willing to go to any length to assure his continuance in office—even to the extent of Tammanyizing the entire country. Yet advocates of the third term for the President have contended that they speak for the "liberals" of the country.

Well, we are beginning to see who these "liberals" are: the smelly Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania; the nauseating Kelly-Nash machine in Chicago; the Bellowing Harold Ickes, and now comes word that Mayor Frank ("I am the law") Hague of Jersey City will soon plump for a third term. Of course, he will—so would Kansas City Pendergast and Tammany Hall Jimmy Hines, if they were not in the penitentiary. Such have been the "liberal" supporters of the New Deal since its inception.

Home Bureau to Design and Make Rugs

An important part of the Home Bureau program for this year will be started on Monday, September 18, when Mrs. J. D. Wilkie, will begin her classes in Designing and Making Rugs. Many women in the county have been interested in this work for a long time but the County Executive Committee felt it was best to delay teaching it until more had been done with special projects on color and the arrangement of house furnishings. The project is designed to give homemakers additional knowledge in color and its use in the home and to increase their knowledge of the choice of the right design for the right place and use. The application of this useful knowledge will be made in a rug which may be either crocheted, braided or hooked .

The project is planned with three meetings. Mrs. Wilkie will go directly to each unit for the first meeting to help with the choice of design and decision as to what colors shall be used in the rug to be made. These decisions, of course, are based on where the rug will be placed and the color and designs of other articles in a particular room. At the second lesson homemakers will have an opportunity to dye the materials that they have on hand and that they plan to use in making their rugs. Wool materials are best for hooked and braided rugs.

Cotton materials may be used for crocheting or braiding. The third meeting will be given to unit leaders and will be the actual teaching of how to do the hooking, braiding, or crocheting and the points that make for a good rug.

American Boy Magazine Companion to Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum", writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school baseball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY".

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michican

WOODHULL-JASPER AND VICINITY NEWS

Herrington Returned in Spirited Election in Woodhull

Supervisor has 60-vote lead over Towsley—Kruze tops Balcom—Peters and Symonds are elected justices.

Supervisor Ray Herrington was renominated by the Republicans of this village in the Tuesday primaries by a majority of 60 over his opponent Ralph C. Towsley. The vote in the village was 147 to 113 and in the second district, Borden and vicinity 46 to 20.

The district divided on their choice for sheriff as in the village district, Leo Kruze led 150 to 102 for Balcom while in the Borden district Balcom garnered 44 votes to his opponent's 20.

In the only other contest in the district, a three way fight for two justice of the peace positions, William P. Symonds was top flight candidate with 236 votes and his running mate was Earl J. Peters, with 199 votes. Clarence R. Perry, first on the ticket in name gathered 116 votes. Symonds and Peters were declared elected.

For County treasurer, Clara Smith received 241 votes in the village district and 62 in the Borden district; District Attorney George A. King, received 241 in the first district and 61 in the second district, polling one less vote than the county treasurer.

In voting for coroners the first district in the village gave Sanford 215 and Crossman 189, showing a distinct split in the voting there and the second district, with no votes being cast at all for either Sanford or Crossman.

Democratic Vote

There were only two Democratic votes cast in the districts with all candidates receiving two each.

Gang Mills and Caton Tied For Little Six Honors—Game Sunday

Teams play double-header here Sunday and Caton wins opened 4 to 1 and drop nightcap 10 to 4 in free-hitting contest—Playoff will be at Pyrex Park.

The third and deciding game in the Little Six League Little World Series will be played at Pyrex Park in Corning Sunday. Two games were played in Addison Sunday with Caton taking the first and Gang Mills the second. And both games were good games.

In the opener it seemed that Caton could do no wrong and they won 4 to 1. Gang Mills' hits went right into Caton hands without the fielders having to move. There were some lengthy hits made by both teams, with the Caton big sticks doing most of the work. The big inning was in the sixth when Caton scored three runs on four Gang Mills errors, for the losers looked anything but champions in this contest and made some of the fans wonder how they were able to win the league leadership. And Caton scored two double plays and Gang Mills scored one. Brockway at second for Caton scored a double play unassisted by catching a fly and touching the bag.

In the second game, Caton again started the play by scoring a run in the opening inning and it looked like another Caton contest. Two Gang Mills batters went down via the strikeout route and the third went out third to first. In the second the Gang Mills batters were held in subjection by Cotter, who had pitched the Caton nine to victory in the first game. And Caton scored a run in the second inning. Neither scored in the third or fourth and then came the fifth. Caton came three up and three down and Gang Mills started to play. Six runs were scored on eight hits including a three-bagger. The victors did not score a run in the sixth, Caton added one on a three-bagger with one on and in the seventh Gang Mills piled more on the score by getting three more runs after a double play had been pulled against them. Cotter had been removed in the fifth after pitching 12 innings and was relieved by Madison who was wild in spots. Bannister and Hurd hit three-baggers here for each team, but Hurd died on third. Fourteen hits were recorded by the winners while Caton was held to eight.

Bob Drake officiated behind the plate with Bill Miller on the paths. Decisions of both were often questioned by both teams in the excitement, but all this was forgotten after the contest. Caton refuses to play in Addison, contending that the right field confuses their batters and they call this a jinx diamond, hence the contest in Corning Sunday.

Car Owners Must Report Changes in Address

Albany, September 22—With Fall moving plans completed by many families throughout the State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Carroll E. Mealey today issued a reminder concerning changes of address.

The Vehicle and Traffic Law, he explained, requires all car owners and operators to notify the commissioner in writing of any change of residence within ten days of such change.

Hundreds of licenses are suspended every moving season because motorists overlook this provision of the law.

Banking In Tomorrow's World!

The trend of banking has been toward more complete financial services for the individual.

In part this trend is due to the desire of banks to be of maximum helpfulness, and in part to the growing complexity of modern life, which accents the importance of individual financial management.

This trend will continue, we believe, into the world of tomorrow. This bank, for one, will continue to study the needs of the average individual and to provide new or improved banking services wherever necessary.

We invite you to open an account at this bank and to become acquainted with our services.

World War Veterans Hold Reunion Here

Memories of World War days and the present conflict were discussed at a reunion meeting of the 304th Field Artillery held in the Eagle Hotel here Saturday night, September 16.

There were 65 veterans and friends present from Buffalo, Olean, Corning, Woodhull, Hornell, Rochester, Elmira and Addison. One group of 35 coming from the western part of the state by special bus.

The speakers, all informal, told of experiences in France, where the unit was located for 12 months and some pre and post-war experiences. They also gave their opinions relative to the present conflict and some men expressed the idea that they would rather go to war themselves than send their grown sons.

Bob Mason of Woodhull was in charge of the local arrangements assisted by J. Ball of Hornell, John W. Russ, Addison and Leslie D. Kimble Corning.

Drouth Intensified In New York State

The drouth, in general, was intensified in New York state during the week ending September 5, according to the weekly report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau at Cornell University. In some areas it is more severe than it has been in the past 50 years. The report continues:

"Water shortage is still acute in many places. The preparation of ground for wheat and fall grass seeding has been delayed. Corn is drying up and silo-filling has started earlier than usual.

"Buckwheat varies. Late potatoes need rain; some fields, not well sprayed, are blighting. Beans are ripening or drying out fast. Cabbage is suffering from lack of rain. Grapes and other fruit seem to be ripening earlier than usual."

Still Able to Go to College

Hundreds of farm boys, interested in agriculture, cannot afford to spend four years in college, but they still can get university training.

The New York state college of agriculture announces that its winter short courses will start November 1 and end February 9. Admission is open to both men and women who are at least 18 years of age.

According to Professor C. A. Taylor, in charge, the winter courses are business and occupational courses, hence no examinations for admission are required. Only a good common school education is necessary, and tuition is free to bona-fide residents of New York state.

The courses for the 1939-40 season are as follows: general agriculture for those interested in general crop growing and dairy farming; dairy industry, for those who wish to operate milk plants; poultry, for those who wish to operate poultry plants; fruit growing, for those interested in commercial fruit growing; flower grower, for those interested in commercial flower growing; flower growing, for those interetable crops, for potato growers and market gardeners.

A booklet that gives more information about the courses may be had free from the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. New York.

More Pheasants Liberated By Fish and Game Club

Owing to the dry season, the State Game Farms have had an unusual number of pheasants and hence local clubs throughout the state are being sent birds over and above their quota. The Addison Fish and Game Club received 24 full grown pheasants to liberate here. The birds were received Thursday night by William McCarthy, game custodian for the local club.

One case of eight birds willl be liberated along Tuscarora Creek, another case of eight birds will be released along the Canisteo River and the third case of eight birds will be liberated in Woodhull.

The Addison club, owing to a strong and active membership has been granted a good supply of pheasants this season for 506 birds have been received and liberated in this vicinity. Some are along the upper Canisteo River, others along the banks east of the village while others have been placed along Tuscarora creek in various selections.

Jasper Opposes AHS Here in Football Friday

Jasper will be in Addison Friday night to oppose the Addison Knights in the opening football game of the year for the teams. This will be touch football with nine men to a team. Much of the contact of regular football is eliminated in this game, which is much faster and more in the open for the spectator.

Coach Bill Miller has been working his charges noon and night in preparation for this opening game. he has but eight veterans upon whom he can call, owing to some changes in student personnel in the school.

The veterans who will line up with the squad Friday afternoon are: Harold Hargrave, Louis Dominick, providing he conquers a lameness which developed last week Andy Dominick, Dick Gladstone, Paul Thomson, Jimmy Crawford, Homer Fritz and Bill Root. These players with several possible candidates are expected to uphold the honor of Addison High.

It is expected the band will be out with the cheer leaders to help the morale of the players and the spectators.

College Entries Win Honors

The department of animal husbandry at Cornell University had 25 lambs on exhibit and of these 23 were shown at the New York State Fair. Entries consisted of four Dorset, four Delaine Merino, six Shropshire, five Hampshire, and four Southdown ram or ewe lambs. No yearlings or older sheep were included in the exhibit. Every lamb shown was bred and owned by the University.

Winnings included first prizes in the following classes: pen of four Southdown lambs; pen of four Hampshire lambs; pen of three Hampshire ram lambs; pen of four Delaine Merino lambs; pen of four Dorset lambs; pen of three Shropshire ewe lambs and pen of three Shropshire ram lambs, both in the class for animals bred and owned by the exhibitor.

In the individual classes, the department's winnings were those for a champion Hampshire ram or a lamb, champion Dorset lamb or a lamb and champion Dorset ewe or a lamb.
